

YOU RETTER HURRY UP AND LEAVE. MY PARENTS JUST CAME HOME."

DEPARTMENTS

	Random Samplings of Reader Mail
	A MAN OF THE FROTH DEPARTMENT: "7th Heaving" (A MAD TV Satire)
	AN EMBARRASSMENT OF RICHARD'S DEPARTMENT Chic Glitz Computer University11
	It's A WIN-WINCE SITUATION DEPARTMENT: Is It Really Cause For Celebration When12
	ANGSTER'S PARADISE DEPARTMENT: Monroe &Health Class
	FORTUNE SMELLERS DEPARTMENT: MAD's Magic 8-Ball Answers For the New Millennium
1	SERGE-IN GENERAL DEPARTMENT: A MAD Look at Toy Story 2
	THE BLUNDERFUL WIZARD IS ODD DEPARTMENT: "Harry Plodder and The Kidney Stone" (A MAD Book Satire)
	THE POSTULATION EXPLOSION DEPARTMENT: Only a Democrat/Republican Could Possibly Believe

TWO DUMB COVERS..

PAGES!

THIS MONTH:

 Exclusive excerpts from the classic book The MAD World of William M. Gaines continue - with rare, never before seen photos and original artwork!

An in-depth profile of Spy vs. Spy creator Antonio Prohias! 2 or 2 COLLECTOR'S COVERS

More Readers' Choice Selections

PLUS:

- A Classic MAD Movie Satire
- Condom Etiquette
- Rap Music AND MORE!

To read a special excerpt from The MAD World of William M. Gaines log on to www.MADMAG.com ...ONE DUMB GAZINE

1 of 2 COLLECTOR'S COVERS!

YOUR PLEASURE! FUNDS!

DOUBLE

ON SALE NOW WHEREVER MAGAZINES ARE SOLD!

1984 E.P.A. Declares				HIST
Ed Asner's —	SUN	MARCH
Undershirt A "Protected				1	2	3	4
Wetlands"	5	6	-7	8	9	10	11	ŀ
1610	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	l
Galileo Incorrectly	19	20	21	22	23	24	25
Theorizes Earth Revolves Around	26	27/	28	29	30	31

Frost-Free Oven Invented

Revolves Around

His Uncle Beppe

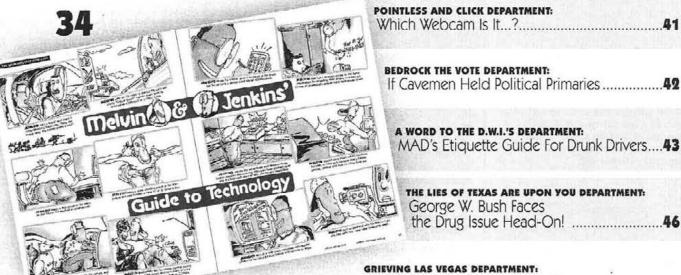

Camera Sales Dramatically Improve After Invention of Film

1997 Eight Billionth Starbuck's Opens

NRA Officially Announces Support For Citizens Right To Own A Nuclear Device

MORE DEPARTMENTS

Spy Vs. Spy	.39
THE SCHMUCKS STOP HERE DEPARTMENT: Melvin & Jenkins' Guide to Technology	.34
THE TRAITS OF WRATH DEPARTMENT: Spot Your Parents!	36
BERG'S-EYE VIEW DEPARTMENT: The Lighter Side of	37

POINTLESS AND CLICK DEPARTMENT: Which Webcam Is It...?......41 BEDROCK THE VOTE DEPARTMENT:

A WORD TO THE D.W.I.'S DEPARTMENT: MAD's Etiquette Guide For Drunk Drivers....43

THE LIES OF TEXAS ARE UPON YOU DEPARTMENT: George W. Bush Faces the Drug Issue Head-On!46

GRIEVING LAS VEGAS DEPARTMENT: MAD's Celebrity Cause-of-Death

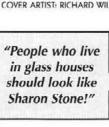

MARGINAL THINKING DEPARTMENT

"Drawn Out Dramas"......Various Places by Sergio Aragones Around the Magazine

FRONT COVER ARTIST: RICHARD WILLIAMS

in glass houses should look like

HOW TO REACH US Please Address Correspondence To: MAD, Dept. 391, 1700
Broadway, New York, New York
10019. MAD welcomes reader submissions. Manuscripts will not be returned or arknowledged. be returned or acknowledged, however, unless they are accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope! MAD doesn't read faxed submissions!

PESO WHAT?

In "Monroe & ... South of the Border" (MAD #387) you state that 70,000 pesos equals four U.S. dollars. Actually, since the Peso was recvaluated in 1992, 70,000 pesos would be just under $7,000 U.S. At least that's what my boss tells me ever since I immigrated here illegally!

Brian Katcher, Pachuca, Mexico

Bri - Oh my God! 70,000 pesos = 7,000 dollars? Do you realize what that means? On our last trip to Cabo we paid over $10,000 for two Chalupas and a couple of Tequila shots! Damn that Clinton and his World Trade Organization! —Señor Ed.

RUSSIAN TO JUDGEMENT

I must point out an error in MAD #387 in which you beautifully regurgitate the 20th Century. You say Czar Nicholas II "was overthrown and replaced by Lenin." Not so. After conflicts with the Duma, Nick the Deuce abdicated March 15, 1917 and was placed under house arrest. On September 15th, Premier Alexander Kerensky proclaimed a provisional government of socialists and moderates with himself as President. Communists Leon Trotsky and V.I. Lenin staged a coup November 8th and forced out Kerensky. He spent his final years in the U.S. The Communists executed plain Nicholas Romanov and his family in mid-1918, but they can't be given credit for "overthrowing" the Czar.

Tim Richard, Bear Lake, MI

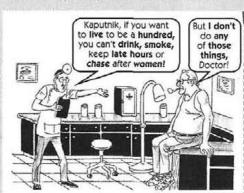

Comrade Tim - Blah, blah, blah, blah, lt is said that history repeats itself, from which we draw the following conclusion: One day in our future we will get a second letter about Russian history that nobody cares about from some durak (that's Russian for "dork," you dork) in Bear Lake, Ml. Lay off the borscht and Stoli and see ya in Red Square! -Czar Ed.

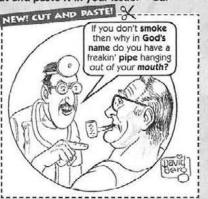

PIPE-A PERSONALITY

I have never been in an anal enough mood to write you, but while reading issue #388 I encountered something which bothered me greatly. On page 42 David Berg depicts a patient in a doctor's office who states he doesn't smoke, but is holding a pipe in his mouth. Does this depiction hint toward a deeper meaning, or did you guys just screw up?

Mark Mayeski, Nampa, ID

Marcus - Thanks for your astute letter. We've contacted David Berg and he has made the following change. Please feel free to cut it out and paste it in your issue! -Ed.

IN GOTH WE TRUST PART II

I just read MAD #387. It's great, but I found a response to a letter from Colin Smith of Missoula, MT by your guest Ed., Rev. Buford Sweetspot pathetic and unwittingly sad. First of all, your Rev. Ed. is confusing Goths, Witches and Pagans with a group of individuals that call themselves "Satanic Worshippers," which in reality are a bunch of confused Christians that can't seem to surpass the limitations that have been placed on them by an organized religion that ain't even 2,000 years old. Satan was created only in Christian mythology to control people with fear and oppression. You see, life is a circle that doesn't end. Everything you put out will come back to you. I study a lot, even the different religions. I'm a Witch, Pagan and Gothic. I am everything and I am nothing. I know the truth for what it really is.

Luis Ramirez (Pagan and Proud) Tenn. Colony, TX

Luis - We took the liberty of forwarding your letter to Rev. Buford Sweetspot of Orlano, FL. Guest Ed. Rev. Sweetspot responds: So, "Pagan and proud" are we? Let me just say this, you godless freak, enjoy your pleasures of the flesh, enjoy your mocking of organized religion while you can! For in the great book God has put a special doohickey next to your name! He will turn up the furnace burners of Hell to the extrahigh setting for you! Your waterproof mascara will run all the way down to your socks and you will taste the black gravy of the Lord's sweet revenge. Your soul is toast! You're gonna burn, burn, burn! Hallelujah and Praise the Lord! Thanks for writing! -Rev. Ed.

SUBSCRIBERS
For all subscriptionrelated matters (includings of address) in the subscription of address) in the subscription of address in the subscription of a subscription of a subscription of a subscription of address in the subscription of a subscription o

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

I recently met Drew Carey when he was in Cleveland filming his sitcom and I am enclosing a picture of me and Drew Carey holding, guess what? No, not a kielbasa, a MAD Magazine! I hope this meets with your approval for the three-year subscription.

Chris Stepinski, Parma Heights, OH

Bingol Chrissy gets the subscription, but unfortunately for her, had it been a photo of her, Drew and a kielbasa, she would have won our Celebrity Snap Grand Prize! Sorry! Better luck next time!

MAD MUMBLINGS @aol.com

Sometimes when I'm lonely I stick yak cheese up my nose — Zendlikdrgn...MAD is the source of all goodness and light in my life! - Nort893...Sometimes I feel like a midget on a lizard - LarKhan666... I wear a pink tutu to keep the evil potato king away - Airbear182...Have you ever read that book called "How to Read"? -Spy Bandit...One of these days I'll win that Rhinoceros - Molluck... Every time I turn on the computer, I smell tapioca. Do you? - SirDiesel...The purple Play-Doh definitely tastes best - JRD369...I hope that after I die people will say of me: "That guy sure owed a lot of money" -Jester354...MAD kills brain cells, and I like it! - PBDoughbo1...These magic pants are defective — GoodBik...Windex and blue Kool-aid are not the same thing -Errr19...Tell the stapler to stop humming - Bunnle2567...l once stuck a dollar up my nose...in pennies! - Comnuts25...The closet is looking at me - MagicCody.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Well, it would appear that bumbling Godfrey has struck again! As several eagle-eyed readers wrote in to complain, the writer and artist credits were missing on "Monroe &...Christmas" (#389). But being that EVERY STINKING Monroe in its history has been illustrated by Bill Wray and written by Tony

Wray and written by Ton Barbieri, it shouldn't take a rocket scientist to figure out they were the culprits.
Godfrey just totally screwed up the credit on "Sean
'Puffy' Combs' Day
Planner" (#388). That masterpiece was illustrated by firsttime MAD contributor
Andre Leroy Davis.

"Bumbling Godfrey"

William M. Gaines founder

Jenette Kahn president & editor in chief

Paul Levitz executive vice president & publisher

Nick Meglin & John Ficarra editors

Editorial:

Charlie Kadau & Joe Raiola senior editors

David Shayne associate editor
Amy Vozeolas assistant editor
Dick DeBartolo creative consultant
Annie Gaines managing editor
Dorothy Crouch yor-licensed

Dorothy Crouch vp-licensed publishing and associate publisher

Art Department:

Sam Viviano art director
Nadina Simon associate art director
Leonard Brenner graphics consultant
Thomas Nozkowski production
Marla Wyche production artist

Circulation:

Daniel Brown director-business development & mass market sales

Tracy Bowen manager-newsstand sales.

Administration:

Patrick Caldon vp-linance & operations Alison Gill exec. director - manufacturing Lillian Laserson vp & general counsel

Contributing Artists And Writers

the usual gang of idiots

MAD (ISSN 0004 9319) is published monthly by E.C. Publications, Inc., 1700 Broadway, New York N.Y. 10019. Periodicals postage oald at New York N.Y. and at additional mailing offices, Subscription in U.S.A.- 12 issues $94.00 or 24 issues $40.00 or 24 issues $40.00 or 24 issues $87.00 or 26 issues $87.00 or 27 issues $87.00 or 28 issues issues issues and include mailing labout when mailing change of address or inquiring about your subscription. POSTMASTER, send address: Calange to MAD, P.O. 80x $284.8 Soulder, CO 80332-3345. The Publisher and Editors with not be responsible for unsatisfied manuscripts, and verguest all manuscripts be accompanied by a stamped self-eddressed istum envelope. The names of characters used in all MAD fiction and semi-fiction are fictings. A similarity without satisfic organization promote to a living person is a coincidence. Finited in U.S.A.

The WB (Watched Barely) Network has a "sleeper" (watch it for twenty minutes and you'll be asleep) hit on its hands about a minister, his wife and their seven kids. Unfortunately, this show is so overly sentimental and sickeningly sweet that after you've watched it for six minutes you'll be on your...

7th Heaving

getting fixed? Now I know how Bill Clinton's dog must've felt!

love those Flintstone-shaped fertility pills we used to give her!

7

cause of all the times

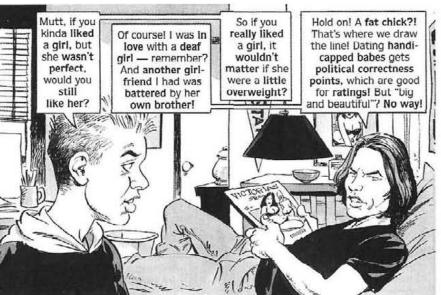

they'd see me up on a ladder.

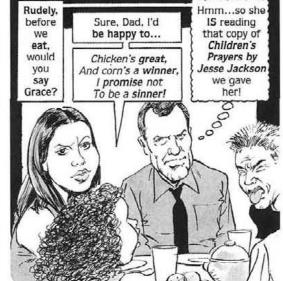

hiding a bottle somewhere!

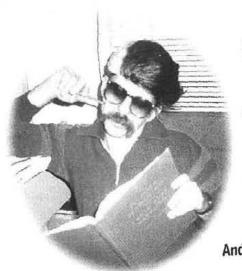

Cilly GUITZ COMPUTER UNIVERSITY

Comp U is a virtual university - which means you don't leave your home to learn. Now, thanks to the worldwide web, you can earn a B.S. in B.S. at a school where...

our campus is as close as your computer...

our cafeteria is as close your refrigerator...our dorm is as close as your bed!

And if you sign up before you finish reading this ad, there's no charge for room and board!

Who's eligible to be a virtual student?

Although our classes are easy and foolproof, not everyone is eligible! To be among the elite who enter Chic Glitz Comp U, you must be a high school graduate, or at least know someone who is. And you must pass our short "electronic eligibility entrance exam" by correctly typing in the numbers of a valid credit card on our website!

Once we have that credit card number, we will e-mail you the virtual key to our huge virtual campus, where you can make yourself at home! Every step of the way, we want our virtual campus here at Comp U to feel just like your own house or apartment! (For security purposes, we ask that you carry your Comp U student ID with you at all times.)

How much is tuition?

Although our Comp U is a virtual college, our expenses are very real, so we charge various fees. But don't worry! We guarantee that our fees are no greater than any by League school with legitimate accreditation.

Individual Course Fee $750.00 (Per course, per semester) (Comp U has a 20-course minimum, so you can be a well-rounded person. How many semesters you'll need depends on your ability to learn, and the limit on your credit card)

(You can choose any doctor you like! Just pay his bill! No forms, deductions, or questions asked!)

(You'll need a printer and ten to exenty reams of paper to download and print your textbooks)

What kind of courses do you offer?

Take our unique COMBO-COURSESTM, offered only at Comp U, and learn two careers at the same time! Combo-Courses include:

- Surgeon/Butcher
- Toxic Waste Management/Chef
 Wrestler/Stewardess
- Lawyer/Sewer Worker
- Politician/Hat Salesman
- Network Executive/Clown
- Computer Programmer/Sleep Counselor

How about my grades?

Thanks to our SPEEDY GRADING SYSTEM™, when you take a Comp U test, you don't wait days, weeks or even months to find out the results. On all our tests, the correct answers are printed in bright red, directly under the answer line! That way you can see instantly if you were right or wrong when you grade yourself.

Is there an active social life at Comp U?

Absolutely! In our VIRTUAL DORM LOUNGE™ you'll mingle with and date other students who claim to be of the opposite sex! And you'll love showing your school spirit at our VIRTUAL PEP RALLY BONFIRES™! (Comp U not is not responsible for fire damage to your computer.)

So when do I graduate?

Just as your credit card is about to reach its maximum limit...SUR-PRISE! It's time to graduate! (With just a few more fees to bring your available credit to zero.) When you depart Comp U, you'll receive the EZ GRADUATE PACKAGE™ including:

receive the 22 GRAPUATE THE 8250.00
Listing in the Virtual Yearbook	$50.00
Listing in the Virtual Yearbook Virtual Cap & Gown Rental
Virtual Cap & Gown Rental	$200.00
Virtual Commencement Fee Virtual Prom Fee	8100.00
Virtual Prom Fee Virtual Prom Date Fee	$25.00
Virtual Prom Date Fee Virtual Three Drink Minimum	$500.00
Vietnal Diploma	.850.00
Cirtual Frame (color printer recomme	$75.00 per course
Vintral Course Transcripes	$35.00 each
Transal Lotters of Recommendate	andation of use out
(Choose from our files of over 2,000 letters of recomme "fill in the blanks" letters of recommendation for only i	$25.00 per template.)
"fill in the blanks" letters of recommendation

At the end of your studies, imagine the feeling of pride as you watch this powerful document emerge from your printer!

from Chic Glitz Computer University certifies that the person who filled in their name on the official dotted line below can do virtually anything or at very least, they can do anything virtually!

> Chic Glitz Dean of Diplomas

Diploma Shown Actual Size

If you're over the age of four, you've probably realized by now that Life is little more than an endless string of miserable indignities and embarrassing misfortunes that make you question why you were ever placed on this crappy little planet in the first place. But occasionally (just occasionally) the Fates seem to take pity on you and it appears that something pleasant has actually happened. But before you get too excited, you may want to pause and think about the big picture!

In other words, ask yourself:

Is It Becili

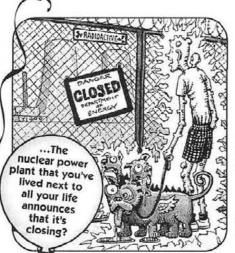

COUSE For

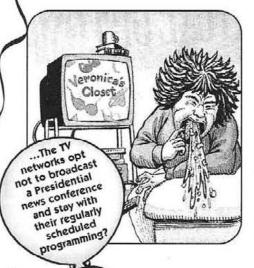

Celebration When...

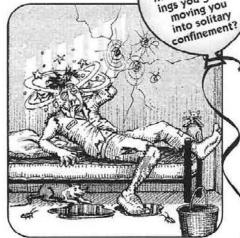

officials try to cut down on the number of beatings you get by moving you over $30,000 a year in tuition, plus books?

There comes a time in a young man's life when he no longer needs to go outside and play. In fact, he pretty much prefers to stay inside and play.

96°MoNP

WATCHA READING, NONTY? ONE OF THEM HARDY BOY QUEER

BUT...

CHAPTER ONE: "EXPLORING YOUR BODY", "BODY", "PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE P

NO! MEAN.

and... HEALTH CLASS

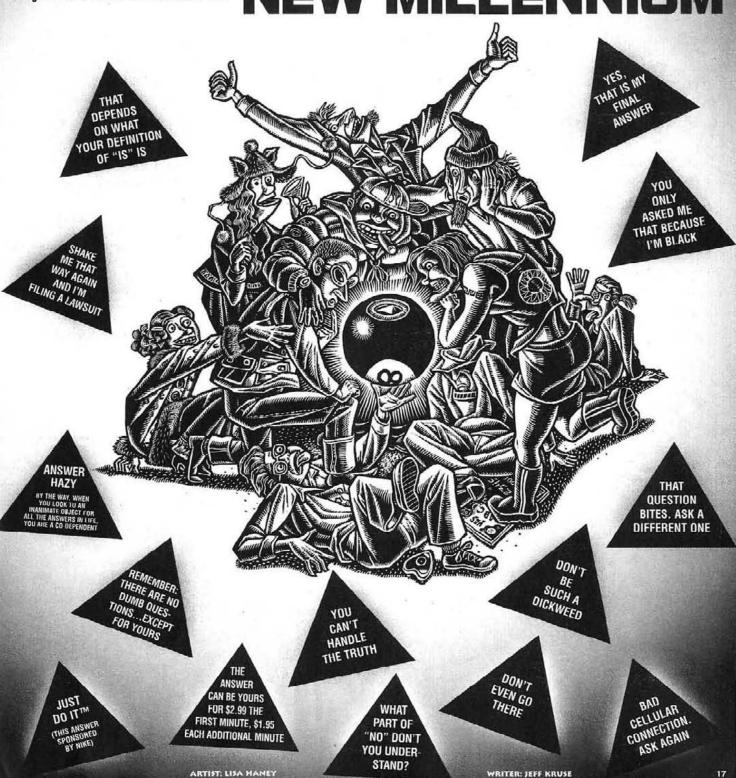

FORTUNE SMELLERS DEPT.

You remember the Magic 8-Ball, right? Well, maybe not the first time around, but it's back as part of the "annoying retro" fad revivals our culture constantly goes through! However, we think the answers should be updated just a bit, so here's MAD's ...

MAGIC (=) BALL RNSWERS NEW MILLENNIL

WRITER: JEFF KRUSE

AMENTO LOOK

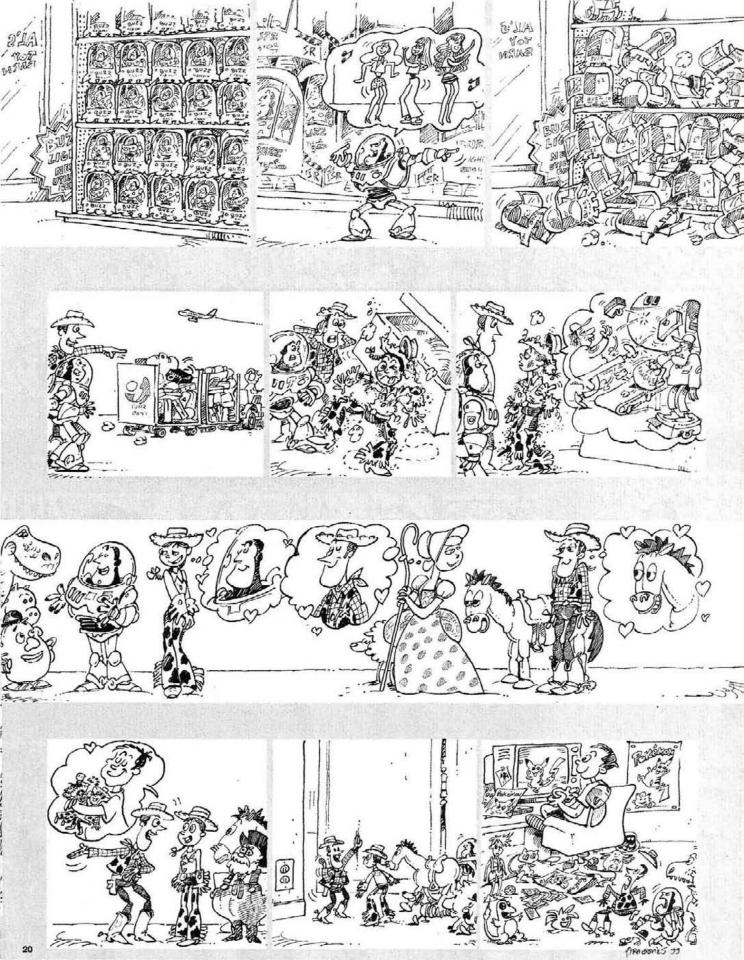

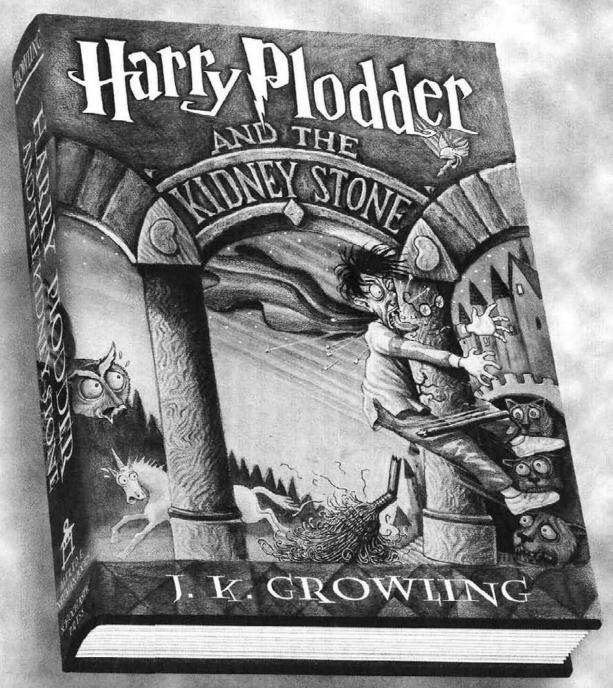

LIKE THIS SO YOU CAN READ THE ARTICLE WITHOUT STRAINING YOUR NECK, SCHMENDRICK!

The biggest success in publishing today is J.K. Rowling's Harry Potter series, which has been hailed for its imagination while making kids want to read. So naturally, the fulltime complainers and religiosos are trying to ban it (along with books by those other dangerous creeps Mark Twaln and Dr. Seuss). They hate Harry Potter because of all his blasphemous, hocus-pocus witchcraft. They'd prefer that kids read the Bible, an approved, 100% magic-free book...featuring a main character who walks on water and can turn one fish into thousands! Anyway, we at MAD say GO GET 'EM! They've been trying to shut MAD down for years, so anything that takes the heat off US by diverting their attention is A-OK! In fact, if there's any book-hating kooks reading this who somehow don't know what a ghastly threat Harry Potter truly is, get ready to burn these next seven pages of MAD, which reveal the true horror of...

NOW THAT WE'VE GOT YOUR ATTENTION, TURN THE MAGAZINE OVER SIDEN

BAD NEWS AT THE DOORSTEP

The hadn't so much as cracked a smile since the great diptheria epidemic of '58. In fact, he had no sense of humor of any kind. His job was as the head writer for Veronica's Closet. His wife, Emphysema, resembled Mrs. Potatohead, only without the sultry sex appeal and their greedy son, Glockenspiel, looked like a gravy-filled balloon and, oddly, smelled like one.

From around the corner came Alpo Dumbleass, a man whose spectacles sat upon his nose just so. Ordinarily, this wouldn't be worth remarking upon, except that Alpo Dumbleass kept his nose inside a brown paper bag marked "Nose." Around his bony shoulders he wore the Cape of Conundrums, while his pants were held up by the Spinning Suspenders of Siu-Ra. His pockets jingled softly with the Wallet of Inverse Proportions, and the Car Keys That Could Not Die.

In the hand that wasn't carrying the bag with his nose in it, Dumbleass was holding a peculiar bundle. With the other arm (did we mention he had three arms?), he was rubbing his bottom vigorously, trying to restore some feeling to it. "Damnable alley cats in heat," he muttered in an irritated voice. "Next time, I shall disguise myself as a large Doberman instead."

At the corner of Perfect N. and Faulty, Dumbleass noticed that his Shoe of Mystical Knowledge was loose. He hoisted his loafer onto a fire hydrant to adjust it. Just then, he felt a jolt through his foot.

"Hey, Dumbleass! Move it or lose it!"

"Excellent choice, my dear Professor McGonads. I quite mistook you for the real thing."

"The main trick was hooking up my bowels to the city's water pipes. I haven't retained this much water since I was pregnant with the goblins. Is that the boy?"

"Of course."

"Let me look upon...him. It's hard to imagine that such a small thing could...well, you know."

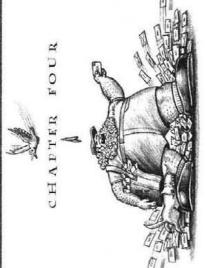

"Yes, I doubt that...You Know Who...realized that he had such...potential."

"I wonder whether he will grow up and avenge those poor people who...well, perhaps it is best not to speak of things."

Dumbleass looked worried. "Do you think we can keep this to-be-continued crap going for six and a half more books, hinting and alluding to things that might happen, if we sell enough books to get that far?"

McGonads was silent for a moment before replying. "Time will tell."

If Alpo Dumbleass and Professor McGonads made one mistake, it was leaving Harry Plodder on the doorstep on a Saturday night. When the Sunday sun arose, the paperboy never noticed the small bundle with the vaguely unpleasant smell on the doorstep, and heaved a full newspaper directly to the very same spot. And when the Patsley family found him the next morning, flattened under the business section, they noticed the freshness of Harry's unique scar. For Harry Plodder would always have a 25¢-off coupon permanently imprinted on his forehead.

LETTERS, WE GET STACKS AND STACKS OF LETTERS

arry's life with the Parsley family wasn't so bad, once he'd gotten used to it. After he had outgrown the mini-refrigerator he slept in, Mr. Parsley generously allowed him to use the full-sized one upstairs. There was even an old brown head of goody lettuce that had been overlooked in the bottom of the crisper drawer, and Harry used this as his pillow.

And although Mrs. Parsley refused to buy Harry any new clothes, she agreed to let him save up all the loose squiggly hairs from the shower drain. Harry had collected almost enough to make a sweater.

And even his obnoxious cousin Glockenspiel Parsley had been nice to him, ever since Harry helped him win third place in the school Science Fair as the subject of Glockenspiel's "Home Skin Grafts" exhibit.

Yes, life was getting sweeter for Harry Plodder all the time. The future was so bright, he had to wear shades—although that might also have been due to the irreversible astigmatism he'd gotten from his daily beatings.

And then the letter arrived.

Harry had never received a letter before, except for that one two years ago with Dick Clark's and Ed McMahon's pictures on the outside. And when it turned out that Harry wasn't a winner after all, he assumed that it was just another one of those lies that grown-ups liked to tell kids.

* AND STACKS OF LETTERS

But now Harry had received his second letter ever, and Everett Parsley wouldn't even let him read it. Harry had also received his third letter, but Parsley wouldn't let him read that. Then, there arrived Harry's fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventee— hey, is everybody getting the point here? Unfair guy, lots of letters, yadda yadda? Okay, then. Let's move this book along.

With a deafening BOOM, the door came flying off its hinges as if Harry were inside a Kool-Aid commercial. Into the room stepped a creature so big, so tremendously huge, that he could easily have co-hosted a women's chat show.

" 'Ello, 'Arry! I wos scratchin' me noggin, won'nering why fer yeh din't respond tih me mess'ges."

Harry stared at this behemoth, and somehow his tongue curled enough to say the single word, "What?"

"Mess'ges. Epis'les. Yeh been sent a ver'table plethora o' ter buggers, 'n I sez, I'd best amble on over t' 'Arry an' git der lowdown."

"Um, why are you talking that way?"

"An' wot way izzit dat yer referrin' ter?

"That. You know, the accent?"

"Oh, that. Ter accent's ter create, like, ter illusion of character devel'pmint."

"Really?"

"Yeh, apparen'ly ter li'l snots...er, readers...kin hear, like, my voice insider heads. An' they gets so hung up on muh funny way o' talkin', they dunna notice 'at I'm not hatdly sayin' a single thing 'ats ter least bit in'nerestin'."

Harry thought for a moment. "I bet it's also helpful for the long passages with just dialogue, so you can tell who's saying what, without having to go back to look."

"Yer learnin' fast, yiz are."

REQUIEM FOR AN OWL

alfwit said, "Ter first thing yeh got to do is, notify ter school at yez are comin. Where's yer owl?"

Harry heard Halfwir's words, but didn't quite take them in. "Where's your owl?" The phrase made no sense to him, sounding like "pre-owned car" or "compassionate conservative."

Halfwit slapped his forehead so loudly that the department store window across the street shattered. "I keep forgettin?! Yez 'aven't been raised worth a wombat's patoot! Luckily, I alwez carries a spare, like." And from under his immense robes, Halfwit produced an thin, gray owl.

The owl blinked confusedly at the sudden assault of sunlight upon its glassy eyes. Then, it coughed up a semi-digested hunk of mouse. The cough made half its feathers fall off. It made Harry feel a little sick to look at the owl's mangy hood and infected feet. He couldn't understand how Halfwit could bear to hold it. "Note to self," thought Harry, "never, ever shake hands with Halfwit again."

While Harry was lost in thought, Halfwit had written out an acceptance note, and nailed it through the owl's good leg. "Once they gets this," boomed Halfwit, "they'll fix yer up wit' a room, an' ave it ready fer yez. The kids what forgets t' RSVP has t' sleep in trees ter first year." He released the owl, which fluttered about before bouncing to earth with a dull thud, where it lay dazed and wheezing.

"Are— are you sure he'll be okay?" asked Harry in a tone that was half worried, half repulsed.

"Natcherly! They trains 'em special, like." Halfwit then seized Harry's arm, bursting several minor veins. "Now it's time f' yez ter do some shoppin?" Halfwit's quick step and firm grip had taken Harry almost a full block away by the time the hacking, staggering owl wound up under the wheels of a bus.

"If yer gwon go t' Pockmark's, yiz gotta have ter proper 'quipment, like," grunted Halfwit, as he hauled Harry along by the elbow. Harry hadn't felt so manhandled since that time at summer camp, which he wasn't supposed to talk about. Actually, it was a couple of times. But before Harry could picture it in his mind, Halfwit had pulled him inside a musty old shop. Along one wall, Harry saw a selection of robes. Along the opposite wall stood an assortment of brooms, cauldrons, and pointed hats. At the far end of the room was a glass case filled with 1984 Donruss baseball

Halfwit directed Harry to a bookshelf which was completely empty, except for a single book. Harry had seen bookshelves like this before. He attended a big city public

"No matter wot book yer lookin' for, yez just hasta reach in, and yer gets ter book yer lookin' for, automatic like," said Halfwit. "This is yer first year, so yer gonna need Witcheraft Fer Dummies." Halfwit grabbed the book, and sure enough, it was the exact one he'd wanted. And yet, the bookshelf still had the one book in it. "Here, go bring it up it ter counter."

Harry asked the clerk, "H-how much for this book?" "I'm afraid it's pretty banged up. At best, I can give you

$1.80."

"No, yuh boobus!," shouted Halfwit. " E's not sellin' ter bloody t'ing! He wants ter buy it from yer!"

"I see. Well, in that case, the price is twenty-three dol-

"Bah! Alla yer school bookstores are ter same! Don't he get an orphan's discount, like?"

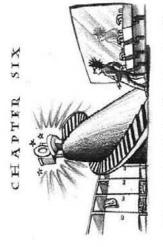

Halfwit tossed the cash on the table. "Now yez needs a wand. Yeh wouldn't be no proper wizard without one. Ol' Mr. Salamander'll fix yez up."

Makers and Lotto, being measured and appraised by the Knees, knobby. Shoulders, unimpressive. Yes, I'll have just the wand for you. Remember, though, it's the wand that chooses the wizard, not the other way round. Let's see how A minute later, they were in Salamander's Fine Wand darting silver eyes of Mr. Salamander. "Ears, five inches. a dogwood will do you."

Mr. Salamander snapped his fingers, and suddenly the air was filled with wild commotion. Perhaps four dozen wands had burst from their boxes, and were now running around the room, making yapping sounds. Harry was suddenly buried its nose in Harry's crotch. "That means he amazed by the spectacle, until one overly friendly wand likes yer," said Halfwir.

groin when he felt a thirteen-incher frantically humping his No sooner had Harry nudged the wand away from his left leg. Mr. Salamander squirted the wand with a water pistol, but the wand simply wouldn't let go. "Well, I guess you've been selected," said Mr. Salamander, handing Harry an empty box. "When he's done, keep him in here."

"Yeah," agreed Halfwit. "An' let's go find yer a pair of corduroy pants. Jus' in case."

SURPRISES #1 AND #2

walked him through the hallways of Pockmark's arry looked around with amazement, as Halfwit School of Wizardry. "Yer gonna be ter top pupil Pockmark 'as 'ad since yer parents, I kin tell."

"Did you know my parents?"

"I'm not s'posed ter do this," said Halfwit, and Harry's seconds. Harry'd caught on already, and there were still six heart soared. Because he knew that every time Halfwit said that, every single time, it was going to happen in about six and a half books to go.

"Bleccch," thought Harry. "They've been dead for "You kin see 'im, 'Arry. I can show yeh yer parents." about ten years. They must be pretty ripe by now."

Harry followed Halfwit down a squeaky corridor lined with oil paintings. Harry couldn't help but notice that the subjects of each painting turned to watch him as he passed by. Oh, brother. They give these Harry Plodder books writing awards by the truckload, yet half the stuff could fit comfortably into any episode of Scooby-Doo. Honestly.

Anyway, Harry was so distracted by the spoooooky ing, and bumped right into the giant's rump. If you've paintings that he didn't notice Halfwit had stopped walknever walked face first into the five-foot-wide ass of a behemoth whose diet includes burrs, consider yourself lucky.

"This is it," barked Halfwit. "Th' secret bathroom."

"Aren't you coming into the bathroom with me?" asked Harry, unaware of how staggeringly wrong a question it was on so many levels.

"Nope, some things yeh has ter handle fer yerself."

Harry stepped gingerly inside, and was relieved to see that there was no Screaming Sink of Sorrow, no Tiles of Terror, no Hand Dryer from Hell. The only thing strange was a tollet bowl perched atop a tower that swayed high into the air. Seeing steps curving around the column, Harry figured that he was supposed to go up there.

shall see the longings they have hid." Harry wondered what After a long climb, Harry reached the toilet bowl. On its lid was a golden inscription. "He or she who lifts this lid this meant. He had seen strange writings while inside public bathrooms, but those generally dealt with other topics.

almost expecting an explosion. There, in the shimmering water, he saw his own reflection, and next to him, a man and a woman he had never seen before. For a moment, he ness. He had never seen these faces before, and yet there Harry lifted the toilet seat with a trembling hand, thought he was looking at a pair of Smurfs, until he realized that the water itself was dyed blue for springtime freshwas something familiar about them.

"Harry," said the woman, "Comb your hair. It locks like a rat's nest."

"Yes, and tuck in your shirt," added the man. "I didn't raise you to be a bum.'

"Technically, we didn't raise you at all," said the woman. "Maybe that's because we DIED!"

Slowly the pieces of the puzzle were coming together in Harry's mind. Sometimes it takes him a little while, couple... Harry knew them. Bending over the bowl so Then a light came into Harry's eyes.

severely that the tip of his nose got a faint tinge of blue from the toilet deodorizer, Harry blinked twice. "E-E-Elpse? And Steve Keaton?"

times he liked to pretend that Mallory was his sister. Harry Plodder was a major Family Ties fan, and some-Nobody ever said the kid was a genius.

repay you," griped the mother. "You've got some serious explaining to do, mister," grumbled the father. "And stand "You carry them for nine months and this is how they up straight! God gave you shoulders, hold them up!"

As Harry listened, the two faces in the toiler tried to room, to his poor grades, to how he could spend all night make up for ten years of missing nagging, from his messy running around with his friends yet not even have enough energy to rinse out a glass after he'd used it.

It was during this ordeal that Harry realized suddenly how very lucky he was to be an orphan. Then a more physical realization came upon him. Shifting back and forth from foot to foot, in the thin altitude atop the toilet tower, Harry's bladder suddenly felt like it was filled with firecrackers. He had never had to go so badly.

walking the poor dog (what dog?), and about two hundred other things he'd apparently been doing wrong. But she his father started in. Finally, Harry could take the building He tried waiting until his mother stopped haranguing him about his CDs, about never lifting a finger, about not wouldn't stop. And the instant his mother finished talking, pressure no longer. He unzipped his pants.

heard a word we've been saying?" screamed the reflection of "Just what on earth do you think you're doing? Have you Harry's mother. Then his parents' nagging was silenced by a gentle tinkling sound.

"I'm sorry, Mom," whispered Harry. "I'm sorry, Dad."

BACK, BACK, BACK, BACK, BACK

ello, sports fans! This is Hermaphrodite Granger, and with me is my color commentator Runt Greasy. Say hi to all the listeners, Runt"

"Uh, hah? What listeners? Who the hell are you talking

"Ha, ha, great commentary, partner! The Waffle is airbornel And this house championship game of Squamish is underway! The Waffle is grabbed by Dom Grillo. Oooh! And Grillo is blindsided by Chris Meisner! Absolutely crushed! No foul called on the play, though, because Grillo's eyes popped out the back of his skull. Only frontal eyeball attacks are penalized. Runt, have you ever seen such action?"

"Are you insane? Why are you saying all this stuff, just sitting all alone here in the bleachers?"

"I'll tell you who's crazy, Runt. It's rookie sensation Harry Plodder, for trying to penetrate this Cuspidor defense! Here comes the double team of Laura Guenego and Pearse Wonderchild, coming up on Syphilis Captain Andy Laitman. Dropping back are Jen Elliott, Rich Levey, and the terrible Tosaris Twins."

"I hate to interrupt you while you're talking to NOBODY, Hermaphrodite, but what's with all these names? I never heard of half these people."

"That's okay, Runt. Counting us, there's only about four students and two teachers you have to pay any attention to in this entire book. The other fifty names just pop up to make it sound almost like a school. You know, like the people sitting on the other side of the bar in every episode of Cheers."

* BACK, BACK, BACK, BACK, BACK *

"Great. Is there any chance you could explain the point of this nutty game to me?"

"The point, Runt, is to stage a whole bunch of flying around for a big action sequence, once we get the movie rights to this mutha sold. Spielberg's gonna love this! Anyway, while we were talking, each team scored 87 points. Let's look at that last replay through the Harry-Cam."

"Aba daba honeymoon! A judo a chop chop! It's crackers to slip a rozzer the dropsy in snide!"

"Runt, are you feeling okay?"

"Sure! I just realized that no matter what gibberish I spit out, this convoluted Squamish "game" is so ridiculously confusing that no reader will ever catch me! Unga bungal Oxygen is for losers!"

"You finally caught on. And what's really sad is, this sport is abready more popular than hockey."

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

MORE POWERFUL THAN MAGIC

Strange figures waiting for him. The first one was the oldest, but Harry could tell that he was a powerfully built man underneath his flowing cape. His hands were empty—his magic must be powerful to require no weapon, thought Harry with a shudder. The second one was a pretry young girl, dressed in rags and holding a splintered broom. The third figure was a teenager not much older than Harry, and carried a glowing blue sword. Before Harry could decide whether to attack, run, or get help, they spoke.

"We have been expecting you for a long time," said the man in the cape.

"We have watched your adventures with growing irritation," said the woman.

"Did you really think you would get away with it?" snarled the teenager.

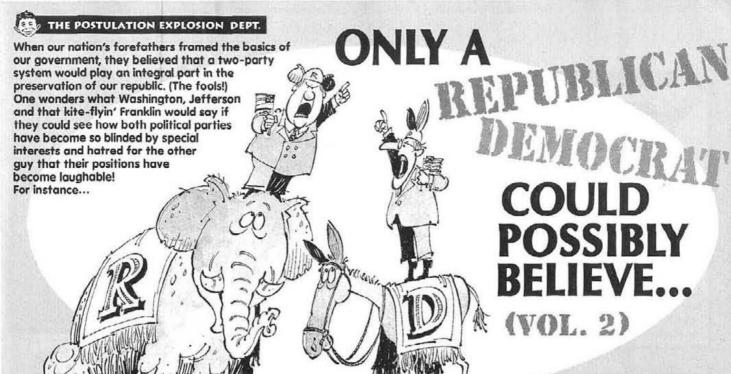

"Huh?" began Harry. "Get away with wh--?" Just then, a searing pain shot up his right arm.

"A little heat vision's the least of your worries," laughed the man in the cape. "Just wait until Time Warner's lawyers get a hold of you. I had that parents-killed-grow-up-to-bea-hero schtick copyrighted back in the 1930s." Despite the flames licking at his shoulder, for some reason Harry suddenly noticed the big red S on the man's chest.

MORI POWERFUL THAN MACIC

"And I'm the one whose adoptive parents abused and mistreated me, while favoring their natural child," said the woman. "Next thing you know, a jerk like you will be riding around in a pumpkin." Harry felt the dull whack of a broom breaking over the back of his neck. Through a red haze of pain, he heard the woman giving unpleasant orders to several nearby mice. "Sure thing, Cindyrella," they chirped, then turned towards Harry with malice in their even.

As the rodents' sharp teeth sank into his flesh, Harry's third tormentor spoke. "And that business about realizing and developing the incredible powers that were always hidden inside you? That's real original," growled the teenager. Now blind with agony, Harry could hear the dull hum of his enemy's glowing saber, getting louder with each step closer. "May The Force be upside your head" was the very last thing Harry heard, and then he heard no more.

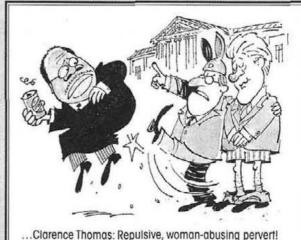

Only a REPUBLICAN Could Possibly Believe...

...a philandering President is somehow more impeachment worthy than a senile, arms-for-hostages trading President.

Only a DEMOCRAT Could Possibly Believe...

ARTIST: PAUL COKER WRITER: RUSS COOPER

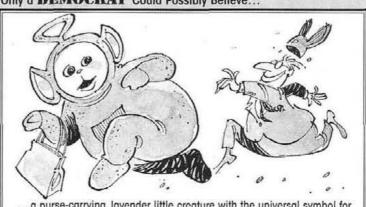

Bill Clinton: re-electable good of boy!

Only a REPUBLICAN Could Possibly Believe...

...the Sixties was a self-obsessed, self-indulgent decade, as opposed to, say, those selfless, altruistic Eighties.

Only a DEMOCRAT Could Possibly Believe...

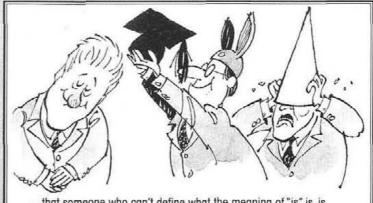

...a purse-carrying, lavender little creature with the universal symbol for homosexuality over its head is in no way, shape or form a gay character.

Only a REPUBLICAN Could Possibly Believe...

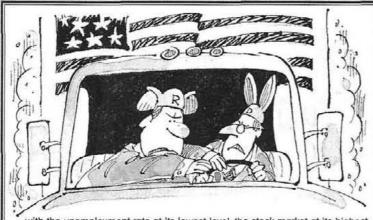

...the fact that they can't come up with anyone who can beat a wite-cheating, bad-sax-playing, bimbo-boffing, pathologically-lying hillbilly is somehow the public's fault...the liberal media's fault...anybody's fault but their own.

Only a DEMOCRAT Could Possibly Believe...

...that someone who can't define what the meaning of "is" is, is somehow superior to someone who can't spell potato.

Only a REPUBLICAN Could Possibly Believe...

...with the unemployment rate at its lowest level, the stock market at its highest level and the overall best economy in 30 years, that it's "time for a change."

Only a DEMOCRAT Could Possibly Believe...

...Barbra Streisand breaking her silence and publicly supporting the President is any more helpful to his image than him getting caught banging interns.

Only a REPUBLICAN Could Possibly Believe...

...that Mary Matalin, a sneering, shrewish, mean-spirited, condescending, one-note, spin-doctoring, ice-veined 'nad-nosher, is who you want representing your party's line.

Only a DEMOCRAT Could Possibly Believe...

...that James Carville, a jittery, pseudo-Cajun, chrome-domed, platitudespewing, inappropriate-chuckle-sprinkling, one-note, spin-doctoring doofoid, is who you want representing your party's line.

Only a REPUBLICAN Could Possibly Believe...

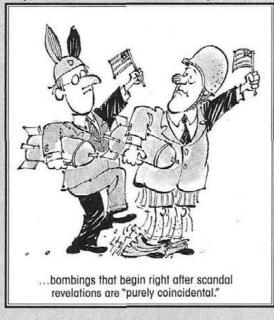

Only a DEMOCRAT Could Possibly Believe...

Only a REPUBLICAN Could Possibly Believe...

Only a DEMOCRA'T Could Possibly Believe...

Only a REPUBLICAN Could Possibly Believe...

...there's no hypocrisy whatsoever in twice-divorced politicians lecturing us about family values.

Only a DEMOCRAT Could Possibly Believe...

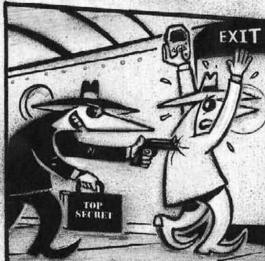

..."I feel your pain" is any less laughable a motto than "A thousand points of light," "Read my lips," or "Just say no!"

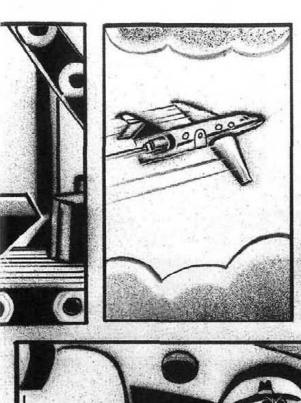

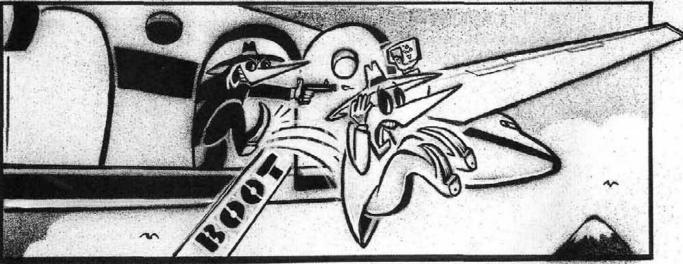

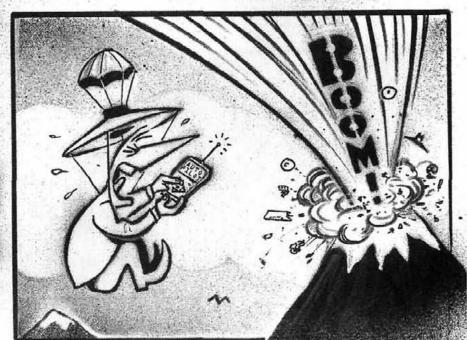

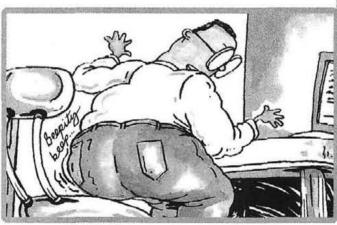

JENKINS asks a friend who owns a radar-detecting fuzzbuster, "Why not simply obey the posted speed limits?"

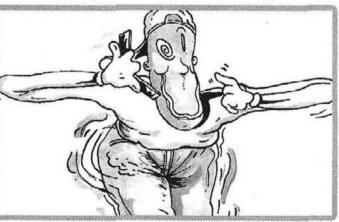

MELVIN uses his CB radio to distract the cops with phony "Officer down!" reports every time he approaches a billboard or a sharp curve.

JENKINS keeps a thin pager in his wallet so that he can be reached in emergencies.

MELVIN keeps a silent vibrating pager in his front pocket and calls himself at least 11 or 12 times a day.

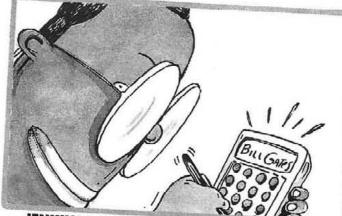

Perp Vetter

JENKINS gets tired of misplacing his TV remote, and gets one of the new kinds that emit a beep to locate it.

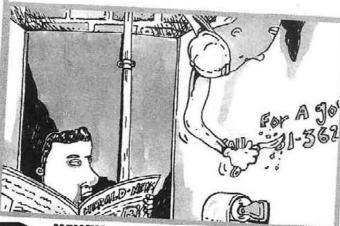

Guide to

MELVIN accidentally atc his remote control during a beer-and-pretzels binge, and now every time he crosses his legs his TV switches over to C-SPAN.

JENKINS keeps his friends' phone numbers at his fingertips by carrying a pocket sized digital address book.

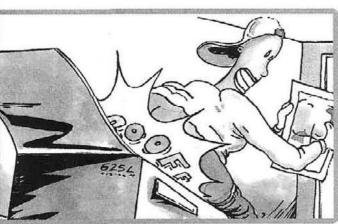

MELVIN maintains constant access to the same information by scrawling their phone numbers on dozens of strategically-spaced toilet stalls across town.

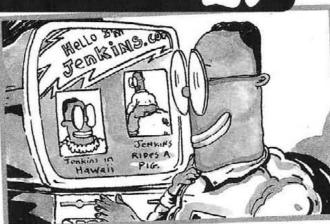

JENKIN5 weighs the advantages and disadvantages before deciding between the 456-color laser printer/copier and the high-tech scanner with attachment capabilities.

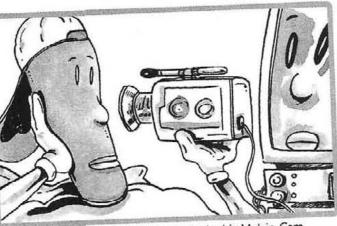

MELVIN doesn't care much which machine he uses, so long as it captures every lifelike groove, contour and nuance of his bare ass.

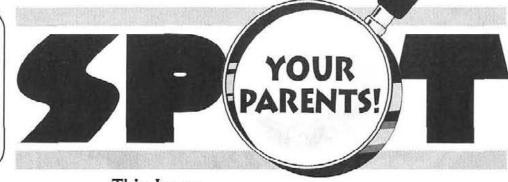

JENKINS sets up a web page, complete with regular photos for his long-distance friends and relatives to enjoy.

MELVIN can't understand why his Melvin-Cam site gets zero hits, week after lonesome week.

you to...

This Issue...

DEFEATIST

It doesn't matter! If you'd won this game you would have lost in the playoffs anyway!

RELIEVED

Whew! Before you fumbled, I thought I'd lost that $50 bet!

FAINT PRAISE

Hey, no big deal!
Before the Dodgers moved
Steve Garvey to first base,
he was also a no-talent,
horrible-fielding third baseman like you!

SEXIST

Of course you messed up! You're only a girl!

TOLD-YOU-SO

Remember at the start of the season when I said you should have been cut? Well! Who's right now, Mr. Smart Guy?!

COLD COMFORT

Just be glad you messed up in a sport Americans hate and never watch!

ARTIST: RICK TULKA

WRITER: JEFF KRUSE

JUSTICE

I hear this judge is the toughest on the circuit! You have to plea bargain for me!

Okay, which would you prefer, lethal injection or the chair?

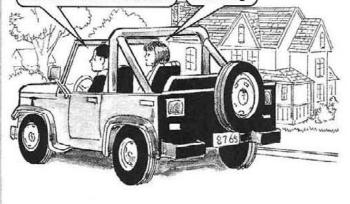

BORROWING

ARTIST AND WRITER: DAVE BERG

Sharon, I need the calculator you borrowed from me last week for my math class! Can I have it back?

Hmm, only if you promise me something!

That you won't forget to return it after you're finished using it!

TROPHIES

...and this baby is the crown jewel of my collection! Sammy Sosa's second consecutive season fiftieth home run ball! And I was there when he hit it in our section of the stands!

Wow! That truly is a collector's item! It must have been some struggle to come away with it!

Let me tell you, it wasn't easy!

The little kid who caught it

CRITICISM

PAYBACK

Mom, how could you do such a thing? Have you forgotten how I drove you crazy squirting everything when I was a kid?

No, my son,
I haven't forgotten!
I remember all too well!

BALANCE

RELATIONSHIPS

FLIRTING

...but when it comes to shoveling all those different snowflakes, every man is exactly the same - they never do it!

THERAPY

I've lost my confidence as a lawyer, Dr. Forman! I'm not nearly as effective as I used to be!

Sometimes we judge ourselves too harshly, Mr. Blumenfeld! Can you give me an example that will prove you're not your old self?

Easily! In the past, I would have figured a way to screw you out of what I owe you for these sessions by now!

BUSINESS

As management of this corporation, we can all learn a lot from the great leaders of our country! For example, a great lesson to be remembered at all times is Lincoln's immortal quote, "You can fool some of the people all of the time!"

target customers!

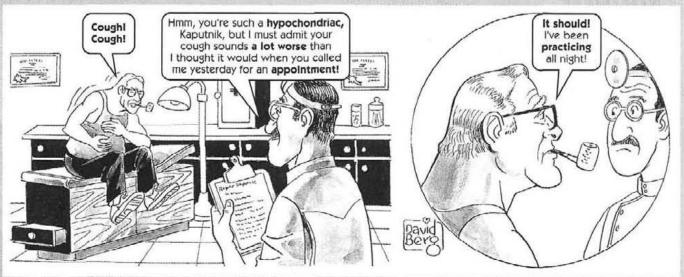

THE OFFICE

PROOF

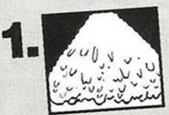

DOCTORS

POINTLESS AND CLICK DEPT.

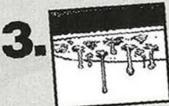

hen al Gore invented the internet, he ushered in a host of technologies that have improved our lives: e-mail, digital commerce and, best of all, the webcam...the handy little gizmo that lets complete strangers broadcast their day-to-day existence over the 'Net so other complete strangers can gawk at them! And we're sure that you - sick, twisted voyeur that you are have availed yourself of these services to peer into the bedrooms (oo-la-la) and bathrooms (yecch!) of every Tom, Dick and Jenny from Bayonne to Botswanal So why not put your voyeuristic sawy to the ultimate test and see if you can answer...

- a) Inside an Airsickness Bag Cam
- b) Baywatch Live Bikini Wax Cam
- c) The Mountain Just to the Left of Mt. Everest That No One Ever Climbs Cam
- d) Your guess here:

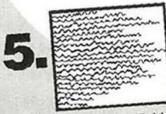

- a) George "The Animal" Steele's Back Cam
- b) Zebra-Mounted Surveillance Cam
- c) Latrell Sprewell's Scalp Cam
- d) Okay, what do you think? __

- a) Third World Subway Straps Cam
- b) World's Ugliest Wind Chimes Cam
- c) Stalactite Cavern and Casino Cam Reno, NV
- d) C'mon, Sparky, might as well take a shot!

- a) Flesh-Eating Bacteria Cam
- b) Alcoholic Drifter Autopsy Cam
- c) Official NASCAR Windshield Cam
- d) Okay, you're so friggin' smart, what is it?

- a) Count the Folds in Don Imus' Neck Cam
- b) Neil Young's Busted Guitar String Collection In the Rock 'N' Roll Hall of Fame Cam
- c) Live Tapeworm Cam
- d) Any idea, dillweed?

- a) That Thing on Aaron Neville's Forehead Cam
- b) Celebrity Kidney Stones Cam
- c) Evil Clown Nose Cam
- d) Take a guess. Don't cost nothin'!

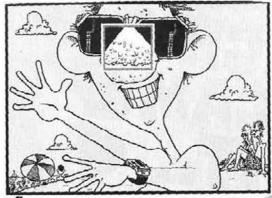

- a) Find the Worm in the Indian Corn Cam
- b) Hanson Acne Update Cam
- c) Venus Williams' Bead-Head Cam
- d) Don't be a jerk, write down a guess!

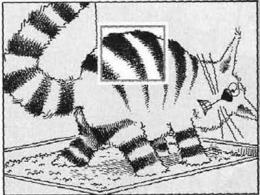

- a) Bruce Willis' Head Stubble Cam
- b) Al Hirschfeld After Six Cups of Coffee "Nina" Binge Cam
- c) Official KKK Konvention Kam
- d) C'mon, don't make us beg... just record your speculation here now:

For Answers, Turn the Page, Schmuckl

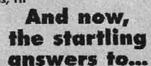

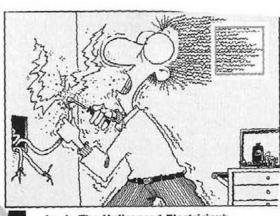

Vacationing Web Geek Waving to his Geek
Friends Back Home Cam — Tikkitacki Falls, HI

Fudley's Litter Box Cam — Pewaukee, WI

WHICH WEBCAM IS IT...

Louie The Unlicensed Electrician's Shop Cam — Nashvegas, TN

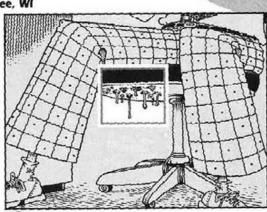

Anti-Technology Militia Convention Can
— Boonton's Creek, Mi

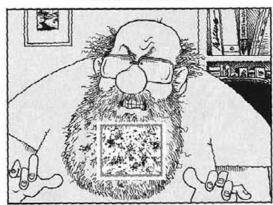

Handicapped Parking Lot Cam — Lourdes, France

O.J. Simpson's Find the Real Killer
Approach Shot 9-Iron Cam — Palm Falls, CA

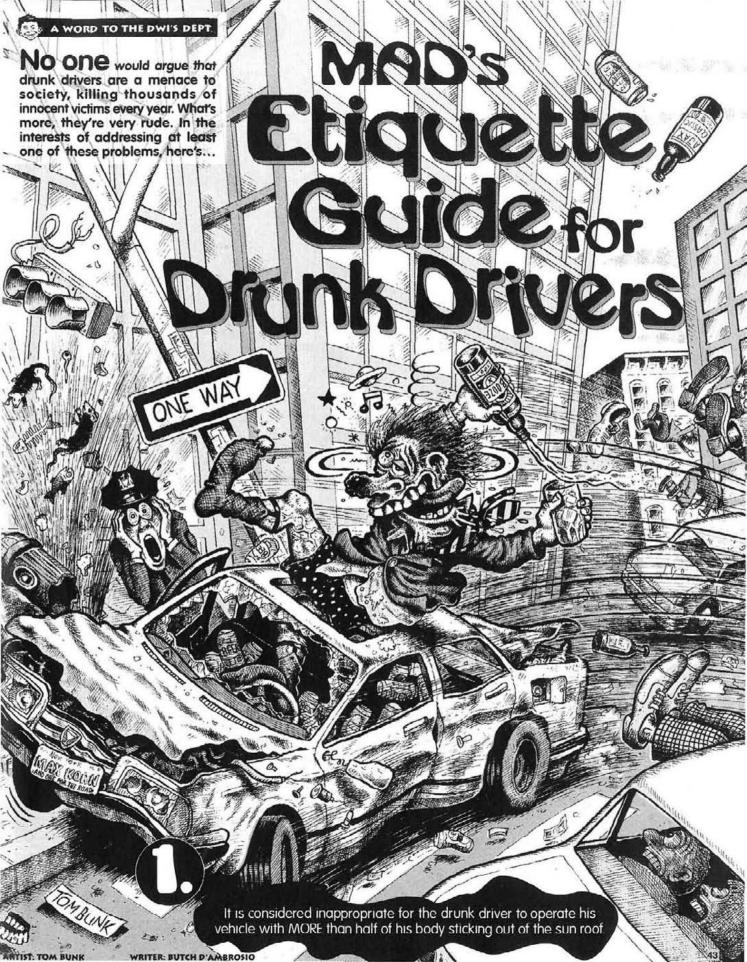

Under Donald's Desk Chair Cam — Fudsport, Wi

What Did Lenny Have For Lunch? Cam — Sacramundo, CA

MAD's Etiquette Guide for Drunk Drivers

The polite drunk driver honors the hosts of any party he attends by bringing along a second set of car keys, so he won't have to fight them for the set they confiscated from him earlier.

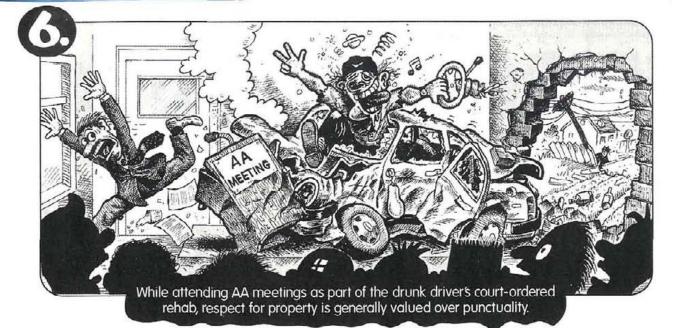

When driving through a red light, the well-mannered drunk driver leans heavily on the horn while yelling at the top of his lungs, "Put on the coffee pot, momma, I'm comin' home!"

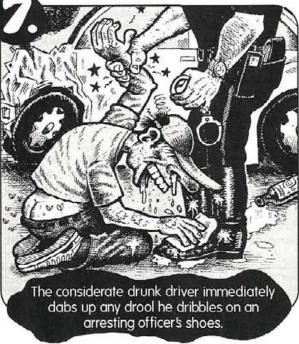

Touching someone else's nose during a sobriety test is heavily frowned upon.

Car fires resulting from accidents caused by the drunk driver should be extinguished by fire-fighting professionals only.

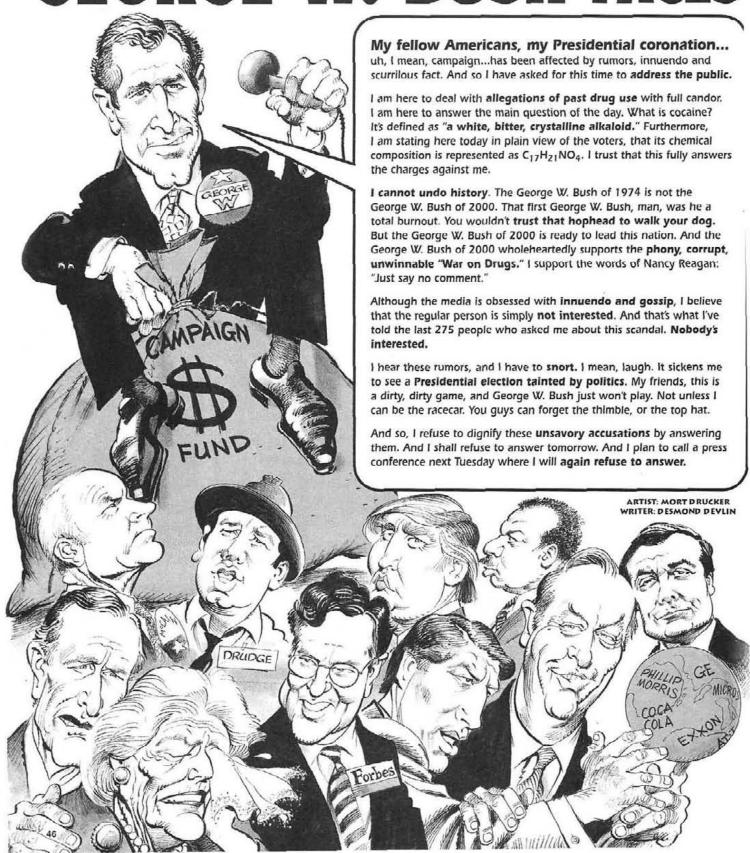

GEORGE W. BUSH FACES

THE DRUG ISSUE HEAD-ON!

All right, that's not working. Let me answer in this way. I did not use drugs from October 2, 1970 through December 12th, then again from December 14 through the 30th. Starting in 1971, I abused no drugs whatsoever in January, April, May, or September. August 1972 was another good month for George W. Bush. As for '73 and '74, I'm going to have to ask someone. It's a total blur.

I believe that my frank talk puts this foolishness behind me, and I can get on with the important business of shaking soft money out of my dad's friends. And the public agrees. They want to hear me talk about my policies.

The economy! Social Security!

Education! Moving forward to the next century! These are indeed things.

Did I mention "Social Security"?

The people want to hear my positions on the issues. And as soon as I get myself one of those, I will be discussing it.

Okay, how about this one. I have "made mistakes." But I never got caught...I mean, "I have learned from my mistakes." Wink, wink, Get it?

To the 28,000 prisoners in my own state of Texas who were arrested for cocaine in 1998, I would say this. Follow my example. Learn from your mistakes. Of course, I'll be learning from my mistakes while riding my private jet, while you'll be learning from your mistakes while kneeling in front of a 280-pound sociopath named Armond. But it is from our differences that the American mosaic stays strong.

To those who would say that America cannot trust a man who hides his past, that America cannot accept a man who got rich quick on insider deals, that America cannot respect a man who ducked military service by getting his dad to put him in the National Guard, I have a simple answer. Tax cuts! Tax cuts, tax cuts, tax cuts! Vote for me, and there's a little something in it for you.

I believe in a higher power that protects us all. And that power is the obscene privilege I was granted at birth. God is pretty useful, too. And whatever mistakes I may have made, I have shown remorse and I have been forgiven. Yes, I have a "Get Out of Hell Free" card.

America needs a President of character, a President of morality, a President of values. And I will be all three of these Presidents. George W. Bush has a vision for America. Years ago, I had a shaky, double vision. Today, I am a passed-out conservative. Oh, sorry... compassionate conservative.

I can beat Bill Clinton in 2000. What? Clinton's not running anymore? That's okay...when you see the Republican TV ads, you'll sure think he is.

I end with this solemn pledge. George W. Bush vows to rid this nation of drugs... if necessary, one ounce at a time! God bless the statute of limitations, and God bless America!

MAD's CELEBRITY CAUSE-OF-DEATH

Our team of crack oddsmakers gives you the latest Vegas line on how one of today's biggest stars will take his final victory lap!

THIS MONTH'S FUTURE EXPIRED DRIVER'S LICENSE HOLDER:

EFF GO ODDS

CAUSE OF DEATH

Killed by race fan just plain tired of seeing the words 2:1 "movie star looks" in his program

Crash caused by excessive weight of sponsor decals on car

Killed by jealous NASCAR fans for having all his teeth

Bladder explosion during race from drinking too much of his sponsor Pepsi's product before race

Fatal Carpal-Tunnel Syndrome from excessive signing of "To Bubba, my biggest fan" in autographs

5:1

7:1

10:1

35,678,000,000:1

ARTIST: HERMANN MEJIA WRITER: MIKE SNIDER

REATMENT

WHAT GLOBAL TECHNOLOGY IS BOUND TO CREATE
NCREASED DEATH
AND INJURY?

MAD FOLD-IN

New inventions have always been met with mixed reviews. Some people applaud because they like to see progress, while other detractors wish for the simpler days long past. There is one ever-expanding invention that everyone sees as a curse. To find out what it is, fold page in as shown.

FOLD PAGE OVER LIKE THIS!

MILLIONS OF CITIZENS ENJOY TECHNOLOGY WITH RELAXING CERTAINTY THAT IT'S SAFE. THEY FEEL BETTER OVERALL PHYSICALLY AND MENTALLY. BUT THERE ARE ALSO THE ONES WHO FEEL IT'S DANGEROUS. THEY WANT TO CURTAIL AND DRASTICALLY CONTROL SUCH THREATS TO OUR WAY OF LIVING

